JM EAGLE MAKING “MILK RUN” DELIVERIES TO ORLANDO AREA

JM Eagle, in appreciation for customers' continued support and its quest to provide optimal service, is now making “milk run” deliveries on Express Service Trucks to the Orlando area every Thursday.

Leaving from JM Eagle's Adel, Ga., plant, the trucks will carry quantities of pipe both large and small, based on orders placed by Tuesday of the same week. E-mail alerts will remind customers it's time to place their orders and let them know about product specials on the runs.

“JM Eagle Milk Runs are a special service to our most favored customers,” says Robert Wang, JM Eagle director of sales, waterworks eastern region. “The deliveries bring just the amount of pipe they need, every week on the dot.”

Minimum Milk Run shipments are small, as long as they are full-crate quantities, and there is no maximum to the amount that can be shipped.

JM Eagle's new Milk Run service promises to be an asset to all customers who need a wide range of quantities plus dependable shipments.

“A shipment of JM Eagle product comes to Orlando the same day every week,” says Robert. “So the pipe you count on comes on the trucks you can count on!”
